One of A Series . . . .

WHAT WE EXPECT OF OUR SCHOOLS

(Editor's note: Two weeks ago Mr. Deneel le Roux, president of the Appomattox Teacher's Association, wrote a thought-provoking article for this newspaper on the theme of what is expected of our schools. Last week, as part of the series, we published a letter from a patron, on the title: What A Mother Expects of Our Schools." Today, we publish an article written by request, by the Editor of this paper on the subject: "What An Editor Expects of our Schools." We hope there will be others in this series.)

WHAT AN EDITOR EXPECTS OF OUR SCHOOLS

By Calvin Robinson

As one grows in years, he gains a cloth of impatience. One hastens to win over-night the Shangri-la of perfection.

Yet, the same passing of the years drills into us the soothing lesson of indulgence and resignation. We seem to sense that true progress is a slow and wearisome thing, and we should not expect too much of our generation.

How to reconcile the impatience to "get it done" right now, with the knowledge that the stream of life down its channel slowly frets, is one of "those things."

As for me, "A Country Editor," I have great and abiding faith in the "feligio magistri." A teacher must have a great faith, and a great ideal. The gleam of inspiration from some teacher may "make a life." A teacher must have that faith, and the school must have that faith.

Ah yes! I taught in high school many years ago, before I was an Editor. Ore boy, bless him, seldom passed in his grades. On one examination, I had to give him a miserable score of "3" on a 100% basis! But, he had good manners, was most coopesative. He just could not master the subject I was asked to instruct him in. But — he was left-handed, and as a side duty, I was coach of the school baseball team. It was my theory that year that a good "left-handed pitcher" would make our team successful. And so we practiced and did our best, and really had a good year on the diamond—with our star "left-hander" winning most of the games. I went into the newspaper career and never knew whether or not this boy ever graduated from high school. But about 15 years later I re-visited the community, and found that my "left-hander" was manager of one of the largest stores in the town, and having a fine career. He grabbed me as a long-lost friend, and I learned more on that day than I had known when I tried to make him master English and History, and such.

I had another pupil who was a problem. But, I worked into his personality, and spent many an afternoon day with him roving the fields looking for butterflies! How about that! Boy, what a collection we captured, and mounted! And moths, too—at night, He failed to master some of the books, but he loved science. And, years later, when I found out that this pupil was a top scientiest on an assignment in South America, I felt richly rewarded for the "spark" I may have given him.

Another pupil had a great talent in some subjects, but seemed to lack the gift of "getting along" with his fellows. But, together, we must have mastered it, for he was a high-ranking official in the Air Corps in World War II.

What does an Editor expect of our schools?

As just one Editor, I do not expect miracles. Your education goes on and on, and the "final report card" may come any "June."

Nor do I expect the youth of today to be "perfect." I do not care for the dances and the apparel of some of our youth, but then too, neither did my older generation care for the fox trot and the yellow slickers we wore in the Fabulous '20's. Doubtless the Rock 'n Roll is no worse than the Charleston and the Black Bottom.

As an Editor, I do not ask that the younger generation accept the "elderly way of life" just because they are elderly. I do not ask that the younger generation accept the "elderly way of life" just because they are elderly. I do not ask that the younger generation accept the "elderly way of life" just be-

Get Go Sign On County Road Work

On Friday, April 1, the State Highway Department will release restrictions on construction under way totaling approximately $92,000,000 and let the projects move ahead at full speed. An additional $20,000,000 on which contracts are pending will also get under way.

Included for Appomattox County is the following:

Two bridges and 8.58 miles of road on Route 679 from Route 601 to Route 619, and 4.08 miles on Route 627 between Hixburg and U. S. 460.

Construction restrictions have been in force since November on work that cannot be done in cold weather, that would inconvenience traffic or cause hardship to road builders who are under a contract time limit.

Some grading and bridge work usually are continued throughout the winter, but nearly all construction has been at a standstill during the February and March snows and cold this year, engineers say.

Womans Club Meets Monday

The Woman's Club of Appomattox will meet on Monday evening, April 4, at 8:00 o'clock, in the Elementary School auditorium, Lt. Col. John C. Steck, of Farmville, will review the book, "Masters of Deceit," by J. Edgar Hoover. The public is invited to attend.

A very important business meeting will be held at 7:15 P. M., in the Elementary School library. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

W. C. DUDLEY GAVE BOOK REVIEW

Mr. W. C. Dudley presented a review of the book "Masters of Deceit" by J. Edgar Hoover at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Appomattox J.W.C. He advised that this is a "must" book on the reading list of most organizations today. Mr. Dudley particulary emphasized the first section of the book which contains the philosophy of communism as expounded by Karl Marx; he said the philosophy of men determine their destiny rather than material things, such as arms, military strength etc., because the use of the later is determined by the philosophy of the men who control or own them.

Mrs. B. H. Marshall, president, presided at a business meeting following the book review.

Mrs. R. L. Wingfield announced that Mrs. Margarite Mitchell of Lynchburg, Virginia will present a program of folk songs and light comedy at the April meeting of the club.

Mrs. Barbara Cawthorne reported that $50.00 was cleared on the dance sponsored by the ways and means committee on March 12.

Mrs. Katie Doss reported on the Stamps for wonded Veterans collection and the Dental Clinic.

Mrs. Barbara Cawthorne announced that May 13th had been set as a date for a panel from the club to appear on the television show Club Quize shown on channel 10 Friday nights at 7:00 p.m. Members nominated from the floor to appear were Mrs. Kenneth Coleman, Mrs. W. E. Jamerson, Mrs. B. H. Marshall, and Mrs. Cecil Rowe.

The club voted to provide a campership for a handicapped child to attend Camp Easter Seal for two weeks during the summer. Mrs. Barbara Cawthorne was appointed chairman of a committee to look into this matter with Mrs. Jim Cobbs and Mrs. Lloyd Hudson serving with her.

A devotional was given preceding the meeting by Mrs. W. E. Jamerson.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. L. L. Stanley, proprietress of The Steakhouse.

Mrs. Bob Montgomery was elected into membership of the club.

Guests present were Mrs. Ethel Mottley, Mrs. R. B. Farris, Miss Sherry Harris, and Mrs. Jimmie Redding.

The Old Days

When the courting was done on the old hair-cloth sofa in the 'settin' room, divorce lawyers were kept as busy as the clerks in a store that doesn't advertise. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

Tax Assessment Now In Progress

A general re-assessment of property for taxes is now in progress in Appomattox County.

For the first time, the county has joined in the trend in most other counties, to use the services of a career appraiser, from the State Department of Taxation. Similar assessment procedure has been used successfully in the state for years. Mr. Herbert Stokes, an appraiser of the State Department of Taxation, Division of Real Estate Appraising and Mapping, is now in Appomattox County for this purpose. It is expected that his appraising of property will continue for some eight months or longer. Thus, the re-assessment will not be reflected in 1960 tax statements.

A County Board of Assessors has been appointed. This board consists of: C. C. Harvey, for Southside District; K. H. Fore, for the Clover Hill District; W. D. O'Briens, for the Stonewall District, and H. C. Blackwell, for the Town of Appomattox.

This board will review appraisals.

According to 1957 figures, the total valuations listed for Appomattox County are:

Real estate	$3,906,830
Tangible personal property and merchant's capital	$3,682,028
Pub. Serv. Corps.	$3,197,577
Intangible prop.	359,297
Bank and Trust Comp.	347,426
Total valu.	$11,393,188.

Periodic re-appraisals are provided for by law, and 1960 is the year for a re-appraisal in Appomattox.

Routine assessments, such as for new buildings, improvements, and personal property, are made by the Commissioner of the Revenue. But at periodic intervals, a general reappraisement is required.

J. C. Caldwell, county commissioner, reports that there has been considerable new construction in the county, and the county will gain a sizeable increase in tax income this year.

A record of 2,116,471 acres of trees were planted in the United States in 1959, C. D. Lewis, chairman of the Appomattox County Stabilization and Conservation Committee reports. One-third of these plantings, he said, were on approximately 700,000 acres of cropland which was placed in the Soil Bank's conservation reserve.

Through 1959, the total of 1,800,000 acres of conservation reserve land had been planted in trees. This conservation use of land has been especially popular in the Southeastern States.
